Fourth of July Holiday Season Believed Responsible for the Slump.

The Independence Day spirit which held sway in Washington on Monday and Tuesday resulted in a dull week in the realty market. Up to noon yesterday brokers had closed only 102 transactions, involving 150 parcels of real estate.

The fact that trading began to pick up on Thursday, when 24 deals were closed, is evidence that the Fourth of July was responsible for the slump. On Friday 22 sales were completed. Monday and yesterday were tied, with 16 deals each, Wednesday made the poorest showing of the week, with 14 transactions.

changing hands. Near-urban property ranked second with 30 transactions. The northwest section led the trading in the city proper, 28 sales being recorded there.

Chatham Courts Sold.

The biggest transaction of the week was the sale of the Chatham Courts, one of Washington's largest and palatial apartment houses, by Harry Wardman, to the Alonzo Bliss Company for $430,000.

The transaction was made through the office of J. J. Lampton Company, Inc., representing Mr. Wardman, and E. E. Taylor for the Bliss Company.

Chatham Court is located on the west side of Columbia road, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets northwest. In exchange the Bliss Company transferred a lot at the northwest corner of Sixteenth and S streets northwest. Another important deal of the week was the purchase of premises, 134! F street northwest, by Thomas H Atkinson at a price indicated by the revenue stamps to have been $45,000. The property was owned by George B. Stone. Mr. Atkinson also purchased a narrow strip of land adjoining on the east from Roberta K. S. Witmer for $5,00.

Bay Land Near Bladeasburg.

The University Land and Improvement Company acquired a tract of unimproved ground in Bladensburg road. The price indicated was $45,000. The property was formerly owned by George C. Havenner.

An apartment house in Irving street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets northwest, was purchased by Mrs.
